

We have submitted our insulation system designated _____ for Recognition. We understand that the long-term thermal aging tests are now in process. Based on the data compiled to date, we are requesting Provisional Recognition for this product. At the conclusion of the complete test program, we will be notified relative to the final results. If these results are unsatisfactory, or if, due to our action or inaction, the test program is not completed, it is understood that UL coverage of this product will be withdrawn and a possible recall of products bearing the UL Mark may be necessary.

We agree that if Provisional Recognition is granted for this product, then we will hold UL harmless and defend and indemnify UL against any loss, expense, liability or damage, including reasonable attorneys' fees, relating in any way to the Provisional Recognition of the insulation system designated _____, arising from any actual or alleged personal injury, death, economic loss or property damage, whatsoever, including any consequential loss or damages, and without regard to the acts or omissions of negligence of any party or the cause or causes of the occurrence including any allegedly negligent act or omission of UL which contributed or is alleged to have contributed, in whole or in part, to the personal injury, death, economic loss or property damage of which complaint is made.

If the final results are unsatisfactory, UL is specifically authorized to immediately withdraw Recognition of this insulation system. We, also, specifically agree to cooperate with and assist UL in determining the complete distribution of the provisionally Recognized products. We also agree that if requested by UL, we will fully implement a reasonable recall of this product.

We authorize you to advise Applicants contemplating use of this insulation system in products submitted to Underwriters Laboratories Inc. that Recognition has been extended on a Provisional basis. If, during the remainder of the test program, the data obtained does not confirm the provisionally established temperature (or other condition), you may consider this letter as your authorization to notify the Applicants using this insulation system in products submitted to Underwriters Laboratories Inc. of the change in the Recognition and/or the unacceptability of this insulation system.

The undersigned represents and warrants that (s)he is authorized to execute this agreement on behalf of this Applicant and that the Applicant will be bound by the terms of this agreement.
