						practices for preparing and operating tuggers and tow tractors. This course will lay the groundwork for the mandatory in-person training you will receive about your specific equipment and work area. This course is ideal for people who use tuggers or tow tractors and their supervisors.
New	PS5-103295	Safety Signs (US) (Spanish)	General Safety and Manufacturing;Construction	Safety Catalog	n/a	You can tell a great deal about the hazardous conditions in a work area by looking at the safety signs that are posted there. Take this course to find out why we have safety signs, what they mean and what you need to know about them. This course is ideal for all workers who visit or perform work at factories, construction jobsites or healthcare facilities.
New	PS5-103293	Mobile Elevated Work Platforms (Spanish)	General Safety and Manufacturing	Safety Catalog	n/a	When you cannot move work to ground level, mobile elevated work platforms, or MEWPs, such as aerial, scissor and vertical mast lifts, may be an appropriate solution. Each type has its own unique characteristics and safety strategies of which you need to be aware. You will receive hands-on training about the specific equipment you will use, but this course will lay the groundwork by giving you an overview of some universal considerations for mobile elevated work platforms. This course is ideal for people who use or manage others who use mobile elevated work platforms.

New	PS5-103106	Office Ergonomics	Ergonomics;General Safety and Manufacturing	Safety Catalog	n/a	If you have ever sat at a computer for hours a time, you may have experienced pain from sitting too long, numb limbs from poor circulation, and eye strain. This course will help you identify ways to make your workspace more ergonomically correct so that you can avoid this discomfort and pain. You will learn what the principle of ergonomics is, how to prepare yourself and your work area, and what adjustments you can make to your setup no matter where you work. This course is ideal for anyone who works at a computer for any length of time.
New	PS5-	Egress and	General Safety and Manufacturing	Safety Catalog	n/a	Each year, more than 200

Update type	Course code	Course title	Industry	Course library	Version	Update details
	103249	Emergency Action Plans (US) (Spanish)				deaths and 5,000 injuries result from fires and explosions in the workplace. The National Fire Protection Association reported over 115,000 non-residential structural fires in a recent year, accounting for $2.4 billion in direct property damage. Those are the losses due to fires, but there are other hazardous situations that can threaten a worker's life and limb. These include severe weather, medical emergencies, chemical release, and bomb threats. We can't completely eliminate dangerous workplace situations, but we can reduce the number of associated injuries and deaths attributable to these incidents. This course will focus on two important aspects of this effort: egress and emergency action plans.
New	PS5-103328	Industrial Hygiene Awareness (Spanish)	General Safety and Manufacturing	Safety Catalog	n/a	Industrial hygiene is vital. By anticipating, recognizing and managing conditions that may expose people to workplace contaminants and physical agents, we can prevent harm to people's health. This course will teach you what industrial hygiene is, what it targets, and how it works. It is ideal for all employees and supervisors.

New	PS5-103329	Forklift Awareness (Spanish)	Awareness;General Safety and Manufacturing	Safety Catalog	n/a	Powered industrial trucks like forklifts are used every day to lift and move equipment or materials. Because of the high risk of injury and even death while operating a powered industrial truck, some use and training recommendations have been developed to improve safety. This training is ideal for all workers who operate or supervise the operation of forklifts.
New	PS5-103330	Crane Signaling Awareness (Spanish)	General Safety and Manufacturing	Safety Catalog	n/a	Crane operators count on signalers to provide vital lifting instructions. Whether you deliver signals, receive them or just witness them, it is important that you know why they are important, what they are, and what to do if stop work signals are given. This course provides a crane signaling overview that is appropriate for all people who work around cranes and lays the foundation for additional, in-depth and hands-on training that crane operators and signalers will receive.

New	PS5-103075	Driving Safety: Tailgating (US)	Transportation Safety	Safety Catalog	n/a	Following vehicles too closely, or tailgating, limits the reaction time that drivers have, significantly increasing the chance of a collision. Take this course to learn why tailgating is dangerous and how to avoid it. This course is ideal for drivers in the United States and their managers or supervisors.
New	PS5-103341	Pallet Truck Safety (Spanish)	General Safety and Manufacturing	Safety Catalog	n/a	Operating a pallet truck is different than operating a forklift or other industrial truck. Take this course to learn how you can help eliminate or reduce injuries and incidents associated with this equipment. This course will give you the basic information you need to inspect and safely operate pallet trucks in a variety of situations. Ideal learners are all employees who operate or supervise the operation of pallet trucks in industrial settings.
New	PS5-103336	OSHA Inspections for Construction	General Safety and Manufacturing;Construction;Health	Safety Catalog	n/a	When you work on a construction site that has

		and Multi-Employer Worksites (US) (Spanish)	and Safety Management			multiple employers present, you know that communication and cooperation are important to make sure everyone stays safe. They are also important when OSHA performs inspections. You may be wondering how the employers work together during site inspections and how OSHA determines who to cite. This course will answer those questions. It is ideal for United States construction workers on multi-employer worksites.
New	PS5-103362	Safety Everywhere: Coping with Cold (Spanish)	General Safety and Manufacturing;Microlearning	Safety Catalog	n/a	Did you know that extreme cold can seriously hurt you? Take this course to find out how you can stay warm and avoid the dangers of becoming too cold. This course is intended for everyone.
New	PS5-100575	Safety Everywhere: Staying Safe on Two Wheels (Spanish)	General Safety and Manufacturing;Microlearning	Safety Catalog	n/a	When you operate a two-wheeled vehicle, whether it is a bicycle or a motorized vehicle, you are vulnerable. You do not have the same protections as you do when you are inside a car or bus. That means you need to take extra care to remain safe. In this course, we will review some basic safety advice you can use to avoid accidents and injuries. This course is ideal for operators of bicycles and motorized two-wheeled vehicles.

New	PS5-102855	Low-Speed and Utility Vehicle Safety (Spanish)	General Safety and Manufacturing	Safety Catalog	n/a	When it comes to utility vehicles, such as golf carts, low speed doesn't mean low risk. Take this course to learn about the unique hazards you should consider before getting behind the wheel and learn how you can safely operate low-speed and utility vehicles. This course is ideal for anyone who operates or rides in low-speed and utility vehicles.
New	PS5-103022	Blasting Area Awareness (Spanish)	Construction	Safety Catalog	n/a	Blasting areas can be dangerous. It's important that the people who work on sites that have blasting know the hazards, process and what to do in emergencies. This is an awareness course about the activities that occur in a blasting area. This course is not designed to qualify blasters or their crew. It is aimed at all personnel who might be at a site where blasting activities occur.

New	PS5-102972	Crane Signaling Awareness	General Safety and Manufacturing	Safety Catalog	N/A	Crane operators count on signalers to provide vital lifting instructions. Whether you deliver signals, receive them or just witness them, it is important that you know why they are important, what they are, and what to do if stop work signals are given. This course provides a crane signaling overview that is appropriate for all people who work around cranes and lays the foundation for additional, in-depth and hands-on training that crane operators and signalers will receive.
New	PS5-103018	Conveyor Safety Awareness	General Safety and Manufacturing	Safety Catalog	N/A	Conveyors move materials quickly and efficiently, but they can be dangerous. Without safe practices and controls, people around them can suffer serious injuries, including amputations. This course will teach people who work around conveyors and their supervisors some basic safety guidelines. It will lay the foundation for the hands-on training that employers will provide about specific equipment, hazards, controls and practices at their work locations.
New	PS5-103029	Industrial Hygiene Awareness	General Safety and Manufacturing	Safety Catalog	N/A	Industrial hygiene is vital. By anticipating, recognizing and managing conditions that may expose people to workplace contaminants and physical agents, we can prevent harm to people's health. This course will teach you what industrial hygiene is, what it targets, and how it works. It is ideal for all employees and supervisors.

New	PS5-103252	Combustible Dust (Spanish)	General Safety and Manufacturing	Safety Catalog	N/A	Good housekeeping practices can help minimize the likelihood of a fire or explosion due to combustible dust. Take this course to learn what combustible dust is, how to detect it and what safety measures to use to mitigate its hazards. This course does not provide technical information suitable to engineers who design, build and maintain equipment and facilities. Ideal learners are all employees.
New	PS5-103301	Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) Part Nine - Electrical Protective Devices (Italian)	General Safety and Manufacturing	Safety Catalog	N/A	When working around electricity, always follow proper safety precautions and choose the right tools for the job. This includes wearing the right type of personal protective equipment (PPE). This portion of the PPE training suite explores the types of electrical protective devices as well as their classes and ratings.

						variety of tasks. Throughout the workday, your hands can encounter any number of hazards. Fortunately, many hand and wrist injuries are preventable. This course will present potential hand, wrist and finger hazards, as well as the steps to take to avoid them. Ideal learners include all employees.
New	PS5-103316	Respiratory Protection Awareness (Spanish)	Awareness;General Safety and Manufacturing	Safety Catalog	N/A	A single exposure to an airborne chemical can cause health effects that last for the rest of your life. If your workplace contains dangerous chemicals, you may need to know about respirator use. This training will present the basic requirements of respiratory protection and will focus on the types and limitations of respirators. Ideal learners include all employees.
New	PS5-103317	Bloodborne Pathogens Awareness (Spanish)	Awareness;General Safety and Manufacturing	Safety Catalog	N/A	Contact with blood or other infectious materials puts you at risk for contracting potentially deadly, incurable diseases. Take this course to learn what bloodborne pathogens are, the risk they present, and general steps you should take to ensure your protection after potential exposure. This course is not intended to teach universal precautions. You need additional information, vaccinations/immunizations, and PPE to provide first aid or handle/clean up BBP and OPIM. Ideal learners include all

New	PS5-00286_LSC	Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) Overview	General Safety and Manufacturing; Construction	0	N/A	Workplaces can be very dangerous and unpredictable places with loud noises, falling objects, flying sparks, toxic chemicals, whirling blades and belts, you name it. Sometimes risk isn't eliminated completely by machine guarding and other controls. By wearing personal protective equipment, commonly known as PPE, you can further protect yourself against hazards and reduce your chances of getting hurt or even killed.
New	PS5-00291_LSC	Industrial Ergonomics	General Safety and Manufacturing; Construction	0	N/A	Jobs in an industrial environment can be physically demanding. Preventing work-related musculoskeletal problems rests on an ergonomically sound work environment, good work practices and employee awareness. This course will introduce common risk factors and methods to prevent musculoskeletal injury. Ideal learners include all industrial employees.
New	PS5-102439	Office Ergonomics (Italian)	Ergonomics; General Safety and Manufacturing	Safety Catalog	N/A	We have all felt aches and pains from bad posture, repetitive work, and sitting or standing in one

						position for extended periods. Working in an office can take a toll on your muscles, but proper ergonomics can make you more comfortable and efficient. The goal of this course is to assist you in evaluating and modifying your office work environment to reduce ergonomic risk. Ideal learners include office workers.
New	PS5-103022	Blasting Area Awareness	Construction	Safety Catalog	N/A	Blasting areas can be dangerous. It's important that the people who work on sites that have blasting know the hazards, process and what to do in emergencies. This is an awareness course about the activities that occur in a blasting area. This course is not designed to qualify blasters or their crew. It is aimed at all personnel who might be at a site where blasting activities occur.
New	PS5-103027	OSHA Inspections for Construction and Multi-Employer Worksites (US)	General Safety and Manufacturing;Construction;Health and Safety Management	Safety Catalog	N/A	When you work on a construction site that has multiple employers present, you know that communication and cooperation are important to make sure everyone stays safe. They are also important when OSHA performs inspections. You may be wondering how the employers work together

						during site inspections and how OSHA determines who to cite. This course will answer those questions. It is ideal for United States construction workers on multi-employer worksites.
New	PS5-103131	Handwashing Awareness	Awareness; Health and Wellness	Safety Catalog	N/A	We wash our hands every day because keeping our hands free of germs and chemicals helps us avoid disease and illness. But are we washing them effectively? Take this course to learn how and when to wash your hands and how proper glove use benefits your health. This course is ideal for all workers.
New	PS5-103200	Fall Protection (Turkish)	General Safety and Manufacturing; Construction	Safety Catalog	N/A	Each year, many workers are hurt or killed as a result of falls in the workplace. Falls are usually complex events that involve a variety of factors. This training will cover systems and procedures designed to prevent falls off, onto or through working levels and to protect workers from being struck by falling objects. Ideal learners include all workers.
New	PS5-103203	Hazardous Chemical Information (Turkish)	General Safety and Manufacturing	Safety Catalog	N/A	Workers are near hazardous chemical products every day. This poses serious problems for potentially exposed workers and their employers. Hazard identification and classification training is designed to provide workers with the information they need to recognize and avoid hazardous chemicals. This course will introduce learners to everything from the content of a hazardous chemical information program to how to use Safety Data Sheets (SDSs) and chemical labels to prepare for hazards or react to exposures. Ideal learners are all employees who may be exposed to hazardous chemicals.

New	PS5-103204	Lockout/Tagout (LOTO) (Turkish)	General Safety and Manufacturing	Safety Catalog	N/A	Would you stick your hand into a machine and hope no one turns it on? You can guarantee the machine stays off by locking and tagging it out. Failure to lock out machinery before servicing it is a major cause of injury and death. These deaths and injuries can be prevented by establishing and following an effective lockout/tagout program. Ideal learners are all employees.
New	PS5-103205	Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) Overview (Turkish)	General Safety and Manufacturing	Safety Catalog	N/A	Workplaces can be very dangerous and unpredictable places with loud noises, falling objects, flying sparks, toxic chemicals, whirling blades and belts, you name it. So what is one way to keep yourself safe? By wearing personal protective equipment, commonly known as PPE, you can protect yourself against hazards and reduce your chances of getting hurt or even killed.

New	PS5-103206	Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) Part Nine - Electrical Protective Devices (Turkish)	General Safety and Manufacturing	Safety Catalog	N/A	When working around electricity, always follow proper safety precautions and choose the right tools for the job. This includes wearing the right type of personal protective equipment (PPE). This portion of the PPE training suite explores the types of electrical protective devices as well as their classes and ratings.
New	PS5-103207	Preventing Back Injury (Turkish)	General Safety and Manufacturing	Safety Catalog	N/A	Life is hard when your back hurts. Back ailments are painful. They can be debilitating. And they may prevent you from working and enjoying activities outside of work. This course helps you understand how the back works and what you can do to prevent back injuries. Ideal learners include all employees.
New	PS5-103209	Safety Orientation (Hindi)	General Safety and Manufacturing	Safety Catalog	N/A	This employee safety program is much more than an examination of
